

COVID-19
UPDATE:
SUPPORT
CONTINUES FOR OUR YOUNG FAMILIES

Society for Support to

Pregnant & Parenting Teens

WE'VE ADJUSTED.

Like most organizations, we have had to adjust quickly. While our physical doors are closed, our ability to connect with all our young moms and dads is still very high. We know their needs may be even greater now than ever before. We are in regular contact with our young families via video chats, phone calls, virtual support groups and regular check ins. We are also able to connect these young families to other supports that are available through our community and governments. In addition, our teens are still able to continue with their academic pursuits through the online learning capabilities of the Bridge Network.

We are committed to being a dynamic program that will adjust in whatever ways we need in order to continue supporting our young families now and in the future.

We sincerely hope this update finds you and your families well and safe.
